

Getting Involved in Network Site-Specific Groups

Joining a site-specific group, organised by your cancer network, can help influence cancer services for a specific type of cancer.

This free workshop will explore the different ways in which the patient's voice can help to broaden knowledge within network site-specific groups (NSSGs) and how to make the most effective use of that experience in improving cancer services for all.

Who is it for?

People who have had cancer, carers, health and social care professionals and group facilitators/chairs belonging to their local cancer network's site-specific groups.

How long is it?

1-day workshop

What will I get out of it?

Greater understanding of how the user voice can develop knowledge and improve services.

How do I find out more?

For more information about how to get involved, please contact learning@macmillan.org.uk . Your enquiry will be forwarded to your local Learning and Development team for their attention.

www.macmillan.org.uk/learnzone

Macmillan Cancer Support, registered charity in England and Wales (261017), Scotland (SC039907) and the Isle of Man (604).